Income tip for website owners:

Worth Of Web Team recommends diversification in two ways.

First, within your affiliate links. Try various affiliate programs simultaneously and do not stick with one only. For example, Amazon can slash its rates even further tomorrow. Be prepared for unforeseen risks. Check Affiliate Program Database \(APDB\) to discover profitable niches and high ticket affiliate programs.

Second, use display ads near your affiliate links. Google AdSense is the go-to source for many. However, AdSense provides one of the lowest RPMs (page revenue per thousand impressions) in the industry. There is a legit way to triple (yes, 3X, and even more) your AdSense income. We use our traffic estimation to calculate "potential" advertising revenue of a website.

We know that every website is unique. Some sell stuff online which is impossible for us to know how much they make. Some do not use advertising or any other type of revenue source, so our figures will show only the potential of that website. We "assume" that the website is using ads and affiliate programs to make money.

You can see the estimated website traffic numbers in the next section.
